OUR COMPANY

We are committed to providing our customers with completely independent, statistically valid, and actionable statistics regarding the reliability and repair needs of their equipment. Our primary goals are outlined below:-

To produce high quality hardware reliability benchmarking and monitoring tools for any standard production device

To provide a professional, excellent and efficient service for all of our customers

To drive the industry towards greater reliability, improved quality, and reduced costs of repair

CONSULTING

TekTrakker offers direct consulting to assist users with preparation and management of data streams for purposes of collaboration with TekTrakker. This includes data collection, database cleaning, standardization, organization, and validation of user-generated data streams.

In keeping with our policy of strict vendor neutrality, we specifically avoid making product recommendations. For those users seeking advice regarding products, topologies, architectures, and other selections, we recommend independent qualified consultants.

Independent Consultants are invited to use TekTrakker as their data backbone. TekTrakker works with consultants to help them collect appropriate client data and produce reporting back to the consultant suitable for their project.
